

Summer 2016

President's Message: Welcome to Pathways

I'm pleased to introduce Pathways, the new quarterly newsletter focused on communicating the many activities and accomplishments of the Woodwork Career Alliance of North America.

THANKS
SPONSORS!

ed WMIA Educator of the

Year

The Woodworking Machinery Industry Association (WMIA) presented its 2016 Wooden Globe Educator of the Year Award to Scott Nelson, president of the Woodwork Career Alliance of North America (WCA). The award ceremony was held April 14 during the annual Woodworking Industry Conference at the Marriott Casa Magna Resort in Cancun, Mexico.

<< SEE ALL WCA
SUPPORTERS >>

WCA Pioneer Committed to the Skill Standards Cause

If you want to get a better understanding of what makes the Woodwork Career Alliance of North America's (WCA) woodworking skill standards tick and why they are important, then a conversation with Patrick Molzahn is a good place to start.

Seven Skill Evaluator Training Sessions Set at IWF

The Woodwork Career Alliance of North America (WCA), a not-for-profit organization dedicated to addressing the woodworking industry's critical skilled worker shortage through the development and assessment of skill standards, will conduct seven sessions to train Accredited Skill Evaluators during the International Woodworking Fair,

August 24-27 in Atlanta.

MORE WCA NEWS

- WCA EDUcation Students Win Double Gold at SkillsUSA Competition
- WCA Skill Evaluator Training Slated at Peyton Woods
- Cabinet Vision Sponsors WCA EDUcation Poster

<< SHARE YOUR NEWS & VIEWS >>

Home | Forums | FAQ | LinkedIn | Contact Us